Jobs and homes scheme begins

BY ANDREW DICKENS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

THE process of bringing 2,000 new jobs and homes for 350 people to Haverhill was officially started on Tuesday by Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government Eric Pickles.

The MP was joined by dignitaries at a turf-cutting ceremony to mark the start of construction work at Haverhill Research Park.

The development, approved by councillors in January, will also provide up to 450,000 sq ft of offices, laboratories and technology space for a variety of companies.

The ceremony follows the award of £4 million by the New Anglia Local Enterprise Partnership and the Greater Cambridge Greater Peterborough Local Enterprise Partnership.

The partnerships have each allocated £2 million from the Growing Places Fund for the provision of infrastructure and site enabling works to open up the 29.5-acre site, which includes a hotel and family pub restaurant to the north-west of Haverhill.

Scheme is 'excellent example'

■ From Page 1

The funding bid was written jointly by developers Carisbrooke Investments and St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Mr Pickles said: "The £770 million Growing Places Fund is unlocking much-needed local growth and getting the infrastructure and homes we need built."

"The New Anglia and Greater Cambridge Greater Peterborough Local Enterprise Partnerships, made up of civic leaders and local businesses, are using the money to help create jobs, homes and leisure facilities in Haverhill."

"I now want to see more of these partnerships coming together and finding innovative ways to unlock local sites to get Britain building again."

The MP was joined by representatives from Carisbrooke Investments, Suffolk-based construction company Breheny which is carrying out the works, as well as representatives from the local enterprise partnerships and the borough council.

Cllr John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council said: "St Edmundsbury and Carisbrooke put a lot of work into this bid and its success is very welcome news, putting the Haverhill Research Park project securely on track to securing 2,000 new jobs for the town.

"It is an excellent example of people and organisations working well together across boundaries for a common goal."

Andy Wood, chairman of New Anglia Local Enterprise Partnership, said: "The Growing Places Fund has been set up to help kick-start projects which will create jobs across Suffolk and Norfolk."

"Haverhill Research Park is a fantastic project which will bring a significant number of jobs, homes and businesses to the area. The application was very well put together and the board was unanimous in its support of the scheme."

Mark Reeve, Greater Cambridge Greater Peterborough Local Enterprise Partnership board member, said: "This is a great step forward for the creation of new jobs in our LEP area as a direct result of Growing Places Funding."

Nic Rumsey, director of Carisbrooke, said: "This together with bank finance from BLME is the final piece in the jigsaw which allows the scheme to go ahead."

Choir set for concert date

A MOVING Remembrance Sunday concert is being held in Haverhill.

The choir of Haverhill Choral Society will be joined by actors from Outspoken Theatre on Sunday for the 'Field of Poppies' concert at Sturmer Hall.

The concert will include a programme of well-known music and verse inspired by conflict, plus excerpts from journals of soldiers.

Tickets in the front stalls cost £15 for adults, £12 for senior citizens and £7.50 for children. Rear stall seats cost £12 for adults, £10 for senior citizens and £6 for children. Tickets are available from the box office on (01440) 705368 or at the front door.

MP to make visit

WEST Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock will visit Haverhill tomorrow to receive a briefing from Sarah Wright, chief executive of Open Road, about their drug and alcohol addiction treatment outreach facility.

Heroes honoured and remembered

SERVICEMEN and women who gave their lives for their country will be remembered in Haverhill on Sunday.

The town's Remembrance Day parade will assemble in the car park behind Haverhill Arts Centre at 1.30pm and march off down the High Street at 2.15pm.

The 400-strong procession, which will be led by parade master and former Coldstream Guard Alan Yates, will then stop at the Lower Downs Slade council offices to observe two minutes' silence at about 2.30pm.

Several veterans and VIPS, including former MP Richard Spring, who now sits in the House of Lords as Baron Risby of Haverhill, will join the march at that point.

BY ANDREW DICKENS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A service will be conducted before wreaths are laid, then the parade returns to the town centre, taking the salute outside the council offices before arriving at St Mary's Church for a service at 3.15pm.

At 11am on Sunday, two minutes' silence will also be held outside St Mary's Church. Brian Thomas, parade organiser at the Haverhill Royal British Legion branch, said that Sunday will be an "extremely moving day".

Neighbouring villages will also be holding their own services.

In Kedington, a church parade will assemble at Barnardiston Arms pub at 10.30am on Sunday, with members of the Kedington and District Royal British Legion branch and Women's Section, supported by representatives of youth and other organisations.

The parade will march along Silver Street, West End Lane and Mill Road, to arrive at the church in time for a short service at 10.50am, including the Act of Remembrance.

Two minutes' silence will be observed, with wreaths laid on the war memorial by representatives of various organisations. The Last Post and Reveille will then be sounded followed by a church service.

A church service will also take place in Great Thurlow at 10.50am.

Other services are also taking place in villages across the area.

Elaine celebrates her second national award

AN estate agent from Haverhill has beaten off thousands of entries to scoop a prestigious property award.

Elaine Grubb, a director of Haverhill company CXG Property Services, picked up a national principal award at the National Landlord Association's Property Women Awards.

Originally entered for a regional award, Elaine's entry was considered so inspirational by judges that she was entered as a finalist into the National Principal category.

Elaine was chosen from thousands of entries to make the final shortlist of six before emerging triumphant.

She said: "I am really pleased to have been chosen to win this award.

"I have to thank the team at CXG - I couldn't have achieved this without their help and dedication. It is a badge of honour for CXG, not just myself."

This is the second national prize Elaine has won, following her success in winning last year's Women's Property Manager of the Year award.

Robin Pilley, co-owner of CXG, said: "Elaine continues to show that dedication and hard work do pay off and it is nice to see this recognised at a national level."

"She is an inspiration to others and has overcome many obstacles to achieve her goals.

"She has been a part of our company since she was 17 years old and this is further proof and testament to the progress she has made."

"This also demonstrates the progress CXG as a company continues to make. It now looks like we will have to build a bigger shelf to hold all her trophies."

Elaine received the award from national television newsreader Katie Derham at the Chelsea Grange Hotel in Kenilworth, Warwickshire, on October 31.

Well done: Elaine Grubb, right, of CXG Property Services, with newsreader Katie Derham.

Park friends' annual date

VOLUNTEERS at a Haverhill park are inviting people to attend their annual general meeting.

The Friends of East Town Park will hold the event at the Visitor Centre in Couplars Road, Haverhill, on Wednesday, November 21.

The group works alongside St Edmundsbury Borough Council to improve and promote the park, to secure funding for projects and to help get Green Flag status. The meeting begins at 7.30pm.

Open morning for parents

A PRIMARY school will be holding an open morning for parents of children due to start school in September 2013.

Parents of children born between September 2008 and August 2009 will have a chance to look around Place Farm Primary Academy, Haverhill, on Wednesday. They will be able to meet the head of school, staff and pupils. The morning runs between 10am and 11am.

For more information call (01440) 702836 or come along on the day.

Choral society toast arrival

MEMBERS of Haverhill Choral Society raised their tea and coffee mugs to toast a new arrival on Monday evening.

The choir used their rehearsal break to congratulate singer Ali Rolfe and her husband Rob who announced the birth of their first child Freddie.

Proud grandmother Anne Milnes is a committee member of the choir. The group would like to repeat their congratulations.

Adam joins cricket club

A NEW head coach has joined Haverhill Cricket Club as winter training sessions begin this week.

Adam Dellar will lead indoor cricket nets sessions at Samuel Ward Academy, Haverhill.

Senior players will train at 7pm on Mondays with a cost of £3 per session.

Juniors aged between 9 and 15 will train at 6pm on Fridays, beginning tomorrow at a cost of £2 a session.

Duo set for 'massive challenge' of drive to Africa

TWO courier drivers plan to drive a £250 car from Suffolk to western Africa to raise money for a children's charity.

The pair from Silver Pigeon, based on Haverhill's Deltech Estate, have already bought their 15-year-old Citroen Saxo and are now looking for sponsors to help get them across the desert.

Mark Muggeridge and Dan Bishop will be one of 16 teams taking part in the annual race and plan to leave the UK on Boxing Day.

Father-of-two Mr Muggeridge said: "It's something I've always wanted to do and it's going to be a massive challenge. It'll be great, if maybe a bit dangerous at times."

"We've chosen to raise money for Make A Wish foundation because of the great work it does. A friend of mine has a disabled granddaughter whom the charity has helped and we both feel this is an extremely good cause."

After crossing the Channel and driving through Spain, they will join other teams in Morocco before racing through the Atlas Mountains and across the Sahara desert.

They will drive into Mauritania, Senegal and Gambia before their final push into Banjul, where whatever is left of their car will be auctioned off for charity.

Mr Muggeridge, 42, said they have already bought the car and Car Scan in Haverhill has volunteered to help service and get it back on the road for the event. Haverhill Rugby club also held a fundraising event last Sunday which raised nearly £300.

Now the duo is looking to raise further funds by asking local businesses to sponsor them.

He added: "We have not set a target for how much we want to raise, we just want to try to get as much as possible. It's such a great charity."

Prison term is suspended for violent attack

A SCAFFOLDING foreman who launched a violent attack in a pub has escaped a prison sentence.

Dennis Barwick, 42, of Nunnery Green, in Wickhambrook, was handed a 12-month suspended sentence and ordered to complete 200 hours of unpaid work by a judge at Ipswich Crown Court on Friday.

The court heard that Barwick had been holding a bunch of keys when he punched Jason Saunders in the face on January 7, resulting in permanent scarring.

The defendant pleaded guilty to wounding and causing damage to property when he smashed a window at The Railway Tavern, in Elmswell, near Stowmarket, after being ordered to leave following the attack.

Prosecuting, Peter Gair

said the confrontation took place after Mr Saunders saw his partner talking to Barwick.

Mr Saunders told the police: "I felt that he was going to attack me. I used the back of my arm in a sweeping motion."

Barwick fell to the floor and was ordered to leave by the landlord but once outside he punched the window, showering two customers with broken glass, the court heard.

Barwick returned to the pub and grabbed Mr Saunders, who fell from his chair, and punched him in the face causing a cut above his eye and another near his ear.

Mr Saunders said: "Dennis had a sharp object in his right hand. I couldn't see what it was."

"I was only aware of this when it was jabbed into my face. I felt instant pain. I managed to sit up, I was covered in blood."

Mr Gair said Barwick had been holding his keys and one of the blows was next to an eye in which Mr Saunders suffered from impaired vision.

Hugh Vass, defending, said Barwick was genuinely remorseful and the incident had been out of character.

Mr Vass claimed that Barwick had been subjected to "significant provocation" and unaware when he struck the blows that the keys were in his hand.

Mr Vass said: "He didn't go looking for trouble. It wasn't premeditated."

Sentencing him, Judge Peter Fenn said it was a serious incident and imposed a 12-month prison term suspended for 18 months.

Barwick was also placed under Probation Service supervision for 12 months and ordered to take part in a 10-day alcohol programme.

He was also ordered to pay his victim £1,000 in compensation.

Members to vote on merger bid

HAVERHILL Volunteer Centre could merge with other groups to form one county-wide organisation.

Members of the centre will be asked to cast their vote to decide the future of the organisation at a meeting on November 19.

Chris Biggs, chairman of the centre, said in a letter: "After considerable discussion with partner organisations and staff, our management committee is recommending that Haverhill Volunteer Centre merge with other voluntary and community sector organisations to form one infrastructure organisation for Suffolk."

"This meeting is solely to discuss and pass the enclosed resolutions."

Members will vote to transfer the assets and undertaking of the charity to a new charitable company, which is to be established by the project board which has been set up to help the merger of Suffolk Infrastructure charities using "transforming local infrastructure" funding from the Big Lottery.

The meeting will be held at noon on November 19 at Haverhill House.

Sisters want to support dogs with festive gifts

BY LEANNE EHREN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TWO sisters have sold their toys to give abandoned dogs food and warm blankets.

The Spicer sisters want to make up a Santa shoebox full of doggie essentials for canines at Haverhill's Jaybeth Animal Sanctuary after visiting the charity with their mum to donate towels.

They then caught a glimpse of a picture of a dog in Romania covered in snow and underweight and decided they also wanted to send out food and blankets to pups in the eastern European country.

Ellen, 9, and Jess, 7, from Kedington, have already raised more than £150 selling their old toys and clothes.

Now they plan to carry out a food fast for up to eight hours to try to raise more money.

Kedington Primary School pupil Ellen said: "While we're doing our fast, we will think about all the food we can buy the poor dogs."

"We've already sponsored a dog each at the sanctuary called Polly and Freddie, but we want to get more money for blankets, food and toys. We want to make the dogs happy."

The girls are raising money to buy food, blankets, bedding and toys to go in a Christmas shoebox for each dog at Jaybeth and anything they have left over, they want to send to Romania via British charity A Better Life Dog Rescue.

Their mum Annabel said she has been amazed at their enthusiasm and half the fun of it for them is to go to the supermarket and pick out dog food and toys.

She said: "They want to go along at Christmas and be like a Santa Claus for the dogs at Jaybeth."

The girls will be holding their fast on Sunday, November 18, and anyone wanting to donate to their cause can pop into the News' Haverhill office, or email annabel.spicer@gmail.com.

Donations help to move Ben into his new home

AN animal lover has raised more than £500 rattling tins in Haverhill to help save a dog in Portugal.

"I just couldn't get it out of my head so decided to raise the cash to get the dog, which she called Ben, transported to her in Ireland. She is over the moon and excited he is now with her.

"The people of Haverhill have been so generous and I just wanted to let them know their donations have been really appreciated."

Jackie picked up Ben from London on Sunday before driving him to Wales where he crossed to Ireland before being reunited with his new owner.

Jackie Sharpe, of Mill Hill, Haverhill, has been wearing a placard and shaking her charity box for the past two months to collect the money every Friday in the town's market.

The cash has helped transport a homeless dog from Portugal to its new owner in Ireland.

Jackie returned from a holiday in July to the Algarve, where she was struck by the number of stray dogs.

She said: "One caught my eye and we kept seeing him. I found that a young Irish barmaid had been feeding and looking after him but she was having to leave at the end of the summer."

Teenager in moped crash badly hurt

A TEENAGER was seriously injured in a moped crash in the early hours of Saturday.

Two young men were taken to Addenbrooke's after the Yamaha moped they were travelling on crashed.

A motorist called Suffolk Police after the incident on the A143 at Little Wratting near Haverhill at around 4am.

A police spokesman said: "A rider and a pillion passenger were taken to Addenbrooke's – one suffering from a serious head injury which was not believed to be life-threatening while the other man had minor injuries."

The incident is being investigated by the police's serious collision investigation team.

The road was closed between Ann Suckling Road and the B1061 at Kedington while the scene was investigated and cleared by 9am.

Anyone with information is asked to call Suffolk police on 101.

TV star Betty helps home win recognition

A RETIREMENT complex which houses a celebrity pet has been recognised for its animal-friendly credentials.

Cairn terrier Betty, who found fame as Pauline Fowler's pet dog in EastEnders, is now one of the residents at Hanover Housing Association's accommodation in Pentlow Hawke Close, Haverhill, and has helped the home gain a pet-friendly accreditation from the RSPCA.

The property has been awarded the RSPCA Silver Community Animal Welfare Footprint which recognises retirement accommodation with pet-friendly policies.

Nine-year-old Betty was welcomed by the home when her owner Gwen Davies moved there from Wales.

Mrs Davies said she was pleased to hear the housing organisation had won the award.

She added: "The pet-friendly policy was my main reason for moving to the estate."

After spending three years on EastEnders, Betty retired from her acting career apart from a few cameo performances – including one on Strictly Come Dancing.

Primary school hosts pamper night fundraiser

A PAMPER and shopping night is being held at a Haverhill primary school.

Friends of Burton End School (FOBES) are hosting the event, which includes displays and demonstrations from local businesses, at the school tomorrow.

Tickets cost £5 and include a free glass of wine and entry to a raffle for a bottle of Champagne. They are available from the school.

All proceeds will be shared between FOBES and the Addenbrooke's Hospital Pink Rose Appeal.

Arsonists hit motorcycle

A MOTORCYCLE was set on fire in a Haverhill car park.

The fire took place in Cangle Junction between 2.45am and 3am on Tuesday.

The motorbike was destroyed and a Ford Mondeo and Ford Fiesta parked next to it were badly damaged.

Anyone with any information about who may have started the fire should contact Suffolk Police on 101 quoting reference HH/12/2399.

Car window smashed

VANDALS left empty-handed after smashing a car window in Haverhill.

Offenders shattered the driver window of a black Chrysler people carrier in Norton Road between 6.30pm and 8.30pm on Monday. Police in Haverhill have said that nothing was stolen from the vehicle.

Anyone with information should call Pc Robert Bunton on 101 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

Rector's murderer will die in prison

THE sister of a vicar murdered by a homeless drifter has called for tighter controls on dangerous psychopaths – and questioned whether they should be free to walk the streets.

Hilary Bosworth spoke out as a High Court judge told Stephen Farrow he would never be released from prison for the "dreadful, horrific and sadistic" killings of her brother, the Rev John Suddards, 59 – who served as a rector in Great Yeldham, for a decade – and retired teacher Betty Yates, 77.

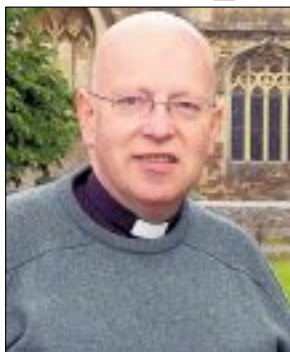

Mrs Bosworth, from Bridport, Dorset, said: "Do we, as a country, do enough to ensure that psychopaths, with a known history of violence and criminal offences, are not left roaming around at large, ready to attack someone?"

"Do we perhaps need to think again about how we might better monitor those people in our communities who present a real risk to society?"

Det Chief Insp Simon Crisp, of Avon and Somerset Police, said: "Stephen Farrow was a sadistic, remorseless killer.

"I would like to pay tribute to the two innocent victims in this case. Betty Yates and John Suddards were in every way exemplary members of our community.

"They were decent, honest

Murdered: Rev John Suddards. CP

people who went out of their way to help people in need. It is that fact alone that makes this the most awful of cases."

Farrow, 48, showed no emotion at Bristol Crown Court as Mr Justice Field told him he would die in prison for the murders, committed in January and February this year.

"Stephen Farrow, you have been found guilty of two horrific murders," the judge said. "I am satisfied that in your case a whole life sentence is an appropriate sentence in each of these dreadful, horrific killings."

He said Farrow intended to humiliate and desecrate the memory of Mr Suddards, adding: "You killed him – having kicked him down, having told him to 'hurry up and die' – with seven deep knife wounds," he said.

"He was helpless. That conduct was clearly sadistic. Accordingly, there is no question in your case of the imposition of a minimum term."

Farrow, who was diagnosed as a psychopath, had denied the murders but admitted the clergyman's manslaughter on the grounds of diminished responsibility, and a burglary in which he left a note threatening to kill "Christian scum".

The murder of Mr Suddards at his vicarage in Thornbury, south Gloucestershire, was the culmination of a two-month reign of terror in which Farrow killed Mrs Yates and made the chilling threat against Christians.

Mrs Yates was found dead at her cottage in Bewdley, Worcestershire, on January 4.

Mr Suddards, a former barrister, studied law at Trinity Hall in Cambridge from 1971. He was rector for Great Yeldham from 1993 to 2003 before moving to Witham, Essex, and then Gloucestershire in June 2011.

Pat Slimming, chairman of Great Yeldham Parish Council, had kept in touch with Mr Suddards.

After his murder, she said: "He always said that he would open his door to anyone and it was a risk he was prepared to take."

Thanks for twinning help

Sir, Please may I take this opportunity to thank all the people involved with the recent Haverhill Town Twinning visits where some members hosted 20 people from our twin town in France, Pont-Saint-Esprit.

The five days were packed with outings that HTTA committee had arranged.

Thanks go to the hosts, members, the Town Mayor Cllr Pat Hanlon and the Mayor of St Edmundsbury Cllr Tim Marks for their support they gave on this visit.

A very special thank you to Mrs Sandra Linnane (Cookathon organiser for the Coupals), Macie Downs, James Delicate, Jollie West, Emily Delicate; all who helped prepare, cook and serve a four-course meal to 40 on the evening of October 25.

Thanks also to the headmaster (Mr Hardingham) for allowing us the use of the school to seat these 40 people for the meal, which was a great success.

Minister sees progress on pilot project

COMMUNITIES and Local Government minister Don Foster visited Haverhill to find out how plans were progressing for a community budget.

The visit came after the town was chosen by the government as one of 12 areas in the UK to pilot a new way of giving communities more say in the way budgets are spent.

Mr Foster met with ONE Haverhill vice-chairman Sarah Howard and other representatives on Friday to hear how the project has progressed.

Mrs Howard said: "Mr Foster was very challenging in his questions as he wanted to fully understand our thinking behind how we have chosen to go about the pilot.

"We spoke to him at length about how we have gone about having conversations with the organisations that hold budgets for Haverhill and how we are trying to break down barriers between organisations.

"He asked us what we needed from central government in terms of support and he really saw the positive can-do attitude in Haverhill.

"It was very evident that he was pleased with our progress to date and we were very grateful for the opportunity to talk to him at length about the pilot and the work that is being done here in Haverhill."

The first two stages of the community budget pilot preparation are now complete with ONE Haverhill having identified possible services they will spend money on.

Undertaker jailed after theft from dead woman

AN UNDERTAKER who stole a purse from a dead pensioner while her body was in a wheelchair just a few feet away has been jailed.

Grahame Lawler took the purse of 78-year-old Muriel Swift, less than an hour after her death, when he called at her Linton home to take her body to Papworth Hospital mortuary.

While he was there he delved into her handbag and stole the purse, which contained cash, her credit cards and PIN details.

Father-of-three Lawler, of Teversham Road, in Fulbourn, admitted theft from a pending estate at Cambridge Magistrates' Court earlier this year.

He appeared at Cambridge Crown Court last Friday for sentencing and was jailed for four months. Sentencing him, Judge Jonathan Haworth described

BY JORDAN DAY

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Lawler's offence as "mean".

The judge said: "It's difficult to think of a higher breach of trust than when a person steals from someone who has just died.

"What you did was such a significant breach of trust that it is my public duty to make sure you serve a custodial sentence."

Sara Walker, prosecuting, explained how if it was not for a sharp-eyed police officer, Pc Sam McMurrugh, who was inside Muriel's home at the time, Lawler could have got away with it.

She said: "The female officer started to search the property for personal items which could identify any next of kin.

"She located a brown handbag on the lady's sofa and inside that was a dark blue leather purse, which she said had notes, coins and cards and a medical ID card inside it. When Lawler and his colleague were about to remove Muriel's body, Lawler asked his colleague to go outside to collect something for him.

"He then asked the officer to hand a form to a colleague and to do it quickly before he came back inside."

During those few seconds Lawler stole the purse. The undertakers then left to go to Papworth Hospital mortuary.

Pc McMurrugh noticed the purse had vanished when she looked in the handbag again.

The court heard the officer called her colleagues, who caught up with Lawler and the other undertaker at the mortuary.

As officers approached Lawler, two bank cards fell out of his pocket and on his arrest, police found Muriel's purse hidden in the sleeve of his jacket.

Lawler had removed the cash and the bank cards, and also had pieces of paper with Muriel's credit card PINs on them.

Around £200 was also found inside the undertakers' van, although there was no proof it came from Muriel's home.

Mark Shelley, mitigating, said Lawler was in "severe financial difficulties" at the time and was "under a lot of pressure to make ends meet".

He said: "His wife had been diagnosed with depression and was off work and he was struggling to provide for his three children.

"This was an opportunistic theft. He did not wrestle anyone for money and it was simply too easy for him. He owed around £12,000."

Outside court, Jane Carpenter, a close friend of Muriel, said: "I'm pleased Lawler has been jailed.

"I was praying that he would be. What he did was horrific and left me shocked to the core."

Winners: pupils at Kedington Primary School celebrate with Olympic gold medallist Katherine Grainger. CP

Primary celebrates special gold medal

EXCITED schoolchildren have received a gold medal for saving energy from Olympic rowing star Katherine Grainger.

Britain's most successful female rower, who won gold in the coxless double skulls at the London games, visited Kedington Primary School on Tuesday.

Miss Grainger – an ambassador for EDF Energy – was there to celebrate the school's success in sustainability in the company's 'the Pod' initiative.

Armed with Pod energy-saving packs, youngsters have carried out energy audits in their school and at home with their families, helping them to adopt the same habits.

The 36-year-old said: "In rowing, conserving energy for the long haul is absolutely vital – and the same is true for how we use energy every day.

BY ANDREW DICKENS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"What I've seen at just one Pod school is so inspiring. They are working hard as a community to become more sustainable and I'm not surprised that they are a gold medal Pod school. This year, children are taking the energy-saving message home and I'm sure this will inspire family and friends to get involved."

The tower also helped to launch the Pod's fourth annual Switch-Off Fortnight, a campaign to help schools across the UK to cut their energy use.

Darren Woodward, headteacher at Kedington Primary School, which has 205 pupils, said: "We're delighted to be part of EDF Energy's schools programme the Pod and proud to be a gold medal school. It's been fantastic to have the chance to show Olympic gold medallist Katherine Grainger the school and what we're doing for Switch-Off Fortnight.

"Reducing energy consumption is a central part of our sustainability efforts at the school and helping children understand the importance of this type of initiative is so important. Switch-Off Fortnight has really captured the imagination of our students, and the energy audit at the end of the fortnight is a great way for pupils to see the results of their hard work."

Switch-Off Fortnight starts on Monday, November 19, and runs until Sunday, December 2.

All smiles: youngsters at Thurlow Pre-School enjoying their holiday club during the October half-term.

Action-packed days for holiday club youngsters

YOUNGSTERS made pizzas, dressed up and painted pictures at a new holiday club.

Thurlow Pre-school held its first ever holiday club
during October half-term, with children enjoying activities indoors and outdoors while being looked after by staff.

The children enjoyed themed days including Little Cook's Kitchen, where they weighed ingredients, kneaded dough and made pizzas which they then enjoyed for lunch.

A Halloween Spooktacular
Party was also held in a themed room with youngsters dressing up as vampires, witches, spiders and skeletons.

They also explored their creative side in a day of messy art and craft activities.

A pre-school spokeswoman said: "All in all it was the perfect environment for children to get the most from their school holidays, with action-packed days and lots of projects to keep them entertained. A terrific way for children to have fun, exercise and meet new friends."

■ Nearly 200 children and their parents enjoyed a spooky Halloween'en Party.
Steeple Bumpstead Pre-School hosted the family party at the Steeple Bumpstead Village Hall last Friday night.

Families enjoyed fancy dress, dancing and a variety of Halloween'en stalls.

Janet Took, from the pre-school, said:
"The party was a wonderful display of village teamwork. The disco was provided by village DJ
Osbourne's Music.

"The pre-school children made fantastic decorations to dress the hall, parents and preschool committee members donated wonderful prizes and the children's carved pumpkin entries were true works of art."

All proceeds went towards art and craft supplies for the group.

The pre-school is open Monday to Friday from 9am to noon. Toddlers and Baby Group is held every Tuesday morning from 10am to noon.

Downsizing saved my life

When 32-and-a-half-stone Chris couldn't get his seatbelt around his 60-inch waist he realised he needed to take action if he wanted to see 50. Two years on, he's lost more than 11 stone and is using his experience to help others lose weight too, as he tells LOUISE MARTIN

Then and now: Chris Liddle with a pair of his old trousers. "I was really eating enormous amounts of food; I would think nothing of buying two or three king-size chocolate bars and eating them all at once, just as a snack between meals," he says.

Picture: Keith Heppell 865358

IT was the office Christmas party and Chris Liddle had spent the evening indulging in festive food with his colleagues. Feeling a little full, Chris said his goodbyes before getting in his car to drive home. But when he couldn't fit the seatbelt around his massive 60-inch waist, so couldn't drive his car home, he knew it was time for action.

"I nearly cried," admits Chris, "I was so frustrated with myself. I'd had a lot to eat and I'd been drinking soft drinks all night so I was probably quite bloated, but I just couldn't get the seatbelt on."

Chris, who lives in Swavesey, was morbidly obese. Tipping the scales at 32-and-a-half stone, the 44-year-old was at his heaviest weight, had Type 2 diabetes and could no longer do everyday things like tie up his shoelaces or walk up the stairs without feeling short of breath – and now couldn't drive his car.

Ashamed by his increasing bulk, Chris vowed to lose weight and, after one last Christmas blow-out, joined Slimming World. Nearly two years later, the research scientist has not only lost more than 11 stone, he is now helping others shed the pounds since becoming a Slimming World consultant.

Originally from Sunderland, Chris explains he has struggled with his weight since childhood. "I was quite big as a child," he says. "When I was a teenager I did play a lot of sports at school and I was fit, but I still weighed about 16-and-a-half stone.

"My granny was a master confectioner, so she was very good at desserts – and I used to love them; it was apple pie and custard and things like that."

The weight gradually increased but when Chris began studying at Leeds University, he became even heavier. "I stopped playing sport, I was drinking beer and was eating differently," remembers Chris. "It was curry and kebabs – anything that was cheap and convenient. My weakness was pies and McDonald's, but I'm a chocoholic, I have a savoury and a sweet tooth!"

By the time Chris finished university, he weighed in at a dangerous 20 stone. But he wasn't concerned about his increasing weight, and continued piling on the pounds into his 20s until, one day, he had a bet with a colleague that he would lose some of his hefty bulk, if his friend stopped smoking. Chris lost three stone, but once the bet was over he returned to his usual high-calorie diet.

"I actually found it quite easy," remembers Chris. "There was no dieting, no dietary advice, no slimming clubs. I was just careful about what I ate, but I soon went back to my old ways as at that point I wasn't enormous – I could still do what I wanted to do."

As Chris's weight continued to increase in his 30s, he developed diabetes and became more and more tired. Instead of cooking his favourite Indian and Italian meals from scratch, everything he ate came from a packet. "I got to the point where I got so big I couldn't be bothered to cook, so I would go to the supermarket and buy things like pre-packed onion bhajis, pies, pastries and pasties," he says. "I was really eating enormous amounts of food; I would think nothing of buying two or three king-size chocolate bars and eating them all at once, just as a snack between meals."

Despite regular visits to his diabetic nurse in Swavesey – where he was always advised to lose weight – Chris had no interest in dieting.

"I used to go and see her once a month and my weight was creeping up a few pounds every month," remembers Chris. "Once I didn't go for three months and I'd put on 10 kilos. That's a lot of weight in three months."

"I did try to have good intentions but I just didn't have the support. She sent me to a dietician and she gave me lots of good advice, but all I was thinking was: 'You don't know what it's like to be a fat, middle-aged bloke.'"

But in December 2010, when he could no longer fasten his seatbelt, Chris decided enough was enough. "There's heart disease in my family. I was in my early 40s, and I realised if I wanted to see 50 I needed to do something about it. I had that eureka moment that people get."

Fearful his life was seriously at risk, in January 2011, Chris joined Slimming World. Founded in 1969 by Margaret Miles-Bramwell, Slimming World claims to have helped more than five million members lose weight at its 9,500 groups across the UK and Ireland.

Walking in to the Bar Hill branch for the first time was, says Chris, the hardest part of his weight loss journey.

"The things that worried me about walking in was: 1) Am I going to be the only bloke? and: 2) I'm enormous. But I plucked up the courage and walked in."

Chris admits stepping on the scales was a shocking experience. "I nearly fell off when I realised how much I weighed. The Slimming World scales go up to 35 stone – and I was 32-and-a-half stone."

Chris was welcomed into the group and, with the support he had needed for so long, radically changed his diet. He followed Slimming World's Food Optimising Plan and swapped his fat-laden pies, crisps and chocolate for low-calorie meals such as jacket potatoes and baked beans, tuna salad and homemade curry made with lean meat.

"During the first week I couldn't believe how much food I was eating – I was eating loads – and I just couldn't see how it would be working," says Chris.

But his new diet was working, and Chris lost a whopping 10lb in his first week and, by April, just four months since joining Slimming World, he had lost four stone.

By the end of 2011 Chris had lost six stone, and is on target to smash that figure again by this Christmas, taking his weight loss to more than 12 stone.

Although Chris's first reason for losing weight was to improve his health, it was also to be in a position to make one of his life-long ambitions come true. "I love the RAF and I go to air shows and I've always wanted to be able to fly in a fast jet," explains Chris. "The limit on an ejection seat is 120 kilos, which is about 18-and-a-half stone – so that was my target. I may never get the chance, but if the RAF did happen to phone me up I would be able to do it!"

Since shedding the weight, Chris's diabetes has improved greatly and he is full of energy. He is delighted with the results, but the big weight loss has left him with some loose skin.

"I have got some, but nothing ridiculous where I would need surgery or anything like that," he explains. "I did start going down the gym a couple of times a week, but I've never been one for the gym."

Chris's confidence has also greatly increased and he has started attracting some female attention. "I'm not exactly beating them off with a stick, but I am getting a bit of attention," he laughs.

"My weight has certainly been an issue in the past; no-one would want to go out with a guy my size. I've always been shy and I've never gone out of my way to attract women – I still don't now – but I do feel a lot more confident."

"People say to me: 'Are you doing this to get yourself a girlfriend?' It wasn't a primary thing but I'd love to be able to settle down, get married and have a couple of kids. I'm no different to anybody else; if it happens, it happens."

Size does matter: Chris before he embarked on his slimming quest.

Currently weighing in at around 21 stone, Chris has another two-and-a-half stone to lose before he reaches his target weight of 18-and-a-half stone, but is now helping others reach their goals since becoming a Slimming World consultant.

"Every consultant has to have been a member; you have to have been through it to put yourself forward," he says. "I decided about six months ago that it was something I really wanted to do, and I never dreamed in a million years I'd get Bar Hill."

Chris has been leading his group for just two weeks, and would encourage anyone looking to make that first step to join.

"It takes a bit of courage and a bit of determination, but once you've walked through the door, and we've got our hands on you – and I mean that in the nicest possible way – we can help you."

MP helping unemployed to find work at jobs fair

HAVERHILL residents seeking employment are invited to attend a free job fair. Employment opportunities and advice with skills including CV writing and interview techniques will be at the event, which is being held by West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock.

More than 20 organisations have already signed up to the job fair including Sainsbury's, International Flavours and Fragrances, Job Centre Plus, Delstar Engineering, Phoenix Internet Consultancy, and it is backed by Supporting Young Haverhill.

It will take place at Haverhill Rovers Football Club on November 23 from 10am until 2pm, when there will be opportunities to apply for vacancies and attend workshops.

Mr Hancock said: "It is great to be able to bring my role as MP for West Suffolk together with my work as Minister for Skills to help address unemployment in Haverhill. "Whilst we are lucky in West Suffolk to have lower levels of unemployment than much of the rest of the country, there is no room for complacency and this job fair is part of my efforts to help those looking for work."

Pumpkins smash window

PUMPKINS were thrown at a window in Haverhill.

The outer pane of the double glazed window in Colbeck Road was smashed when at least two pumpkins hit it between 11.50pm on Wednesday, October 31, and 8am the following day.

Anyone with information should call Pc Michael Potter on 101.

Find festive bargains

A CHRISTMAS craft fair will take place in a Haverhill church.

The event at St Mary's, in Mill Road, will feature crafts, tombola, nearly new and bric-a-brac stalls.

It takes place on Saturday, November 24, from 10am until 1pm and all are welcome.

Couple in swing for new service

BY LEANNE EHREN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A NEW business is hoping to put the sparkle back into golfers' clubs.

Haverhill firm Clear Swing Ultrasonic Golf Club Cleaning Services is a mobile valet service which restores golf clubs to "pristine condition".

Couple Darren Higham and Lisa Jackson, from the town, started up the business after being made redundant from their jobs earlier this year and found a niche market in using ultrasonics to clean clubs.

Clear Swing has already received support from Haverhill Golf Club, which was the first venue they visited, and since they have appeared at a number of golf clubs for corporate, society and charity days, cleaning clubs and also donating a percentage of proceeds to the event or club charity.

Ms Jackson said: "Golfers have found that the main benefit of having their clubs ultrasonically cleaned is this rejuvenation of the club grips, which become as sticky as when they were new and improve the golfer's ability to manage their swing, as well as extending the life of the grips.

"Ultrasonics has been used for many years in the medical and electronic industries to clean equipment safely and efficiently.

"You can even put jewellery in there, in fact a set of wedding and engagement rings will come up like new after a blast of these ultrasonically induced miniscule bubbles.

"When the machine is on, millions of these little bubbles are created in the water, and implode on contact with any surface, no matter how tiny and seemingly impossible to get at with any manual method such as brushing.

"This removes dirt and contamination immediately, even deep down into the grips which is where a lot of residual sweat and grime molecules exist."

The company charges £5 a clean for a whole set, which takes about 10 minutes.

Sarah set to build on trust's success

A HAVERHILL businesswoman will be heading up the trustee board for a group of leisure centres.

Sarah Howard, director at Haverhill business software company Sarand Ltd, has been elected chairman of Abbeycroft Leisure's board of trustees, which manages Haverhill Leisure Centre and Bury St Edmunds' centre.

The 45-year-old takes over from Brian Jones who stepped down after serving five years.

Ms Howard, who is also a Suffolk Chamber of Commerce board member, was the chairman of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce. She is the vice-chairman of ONE Haverhill.

Ms Howard said: "Abbeycroft has grown from strength to strength and I look forward to building on that success and taking the trust forward."

THE Christmas season, filled with bright lights, parties and presents, can be a lot to handle for anyone, but what must it be like for pets?

All the extra hustle and bustle can be quite stressful for our furry friends, not to mention all the potential toxins that become plentiful around Christmas time. Here are a few things to avoid in order to achieve a peaceful and happy time for all.

Firstly, one of the most iconic images of Christmas, the tree, is filled with potential threats to our little pets. Tinsel can cause serious intestinal blockages if swallowed, and fairy lights aren't much better, as a curious pet can get a nasty shock from these twinkly toys. Even the Christmas tree itself, with its sharp pine needles, can result in painful sores between their toes without care.

Food is another important part of the Well worth a visit: Pop along on November 28 for an advisory evening on pets and the festive season.

Open evening: At Homefield Road Veterinary Surgery.

season and, although we all like to indulge ourselves around this time of year, our pets should not be treated the same way (much as they would argue otherwise!) Chocolate, raisins, sultanas and onions are all toxic to cats and dogs, so that means no left-overs in the food bowl! It is also worth noting that if your pet does eat something it shouldn't, there is an injection which can be given to make them vomit as long as it is given to them soon after eating the offending article. This can prevent the need for surgery to remove a blockage or emergency medical treatment to treat potentially life-threatening poisonings.

Finally, we must remember that all the new faces that drop in for a visit can be a bit overwhelming for our pets. Animals tend to be creatures of habit and any change can be a bit upsetting. All pets should have a 'safe' place they can escape to such as a utility room or downstairs bathroom. If you feel that your pet becomes particularly nervous, it might be worth considering one of the pheromone balancers such as Feliway, Adaptil, Kalm-aid or Zylkene which can really help to keep them calm.

On November 28, Homefield Road Veterinary Surgery in Haverhill is hosting an open evening for anyone interested in learning more about how the Christmas season affects pets. There will also be a raffle with great prizes and mince pies. To register your interest, contact the clinic on (01440) 712021.

Christmas All Wrapped Up

WITH Christmas just around the corner we could all do with some extra cash, and thanks to a local business, it's never been easier.

Cash and Cheque Express,

ADVERTISEMENT FEATURE

based on Queen Street, has been keeping Haverhill residents happy for a year and a half, with its simple combination of pawn services and fantastic electrical items on sale.

The easy pay system means for a 20 per cent deposit, and with no interest, you can pick up great Christmas presents such as TVs, laptops and cameras, which are available either pre-owned or brand new.

A simple pawn broking service is available on gold and electrical items, when an amount and interest rate (generally 10 per cent, which is better than most credit cards) are agreed and can be paid back over a six month period – a great option for anyone in need of a holiday or Christmas nest-egg.

The company can also offer straight-forward loans, but staff stress they are only there to help people, rather than encourage debt.

So for a simple solution to your festive money troubles, head to Cash and Cheque Express today.

The shop is open from 9.30am-5pm, Monday-Friday, and 10am-4pm Saturday.

Visit at 21 Queen Street, Haverhill. For more information call (01440) 702552 or visit www.cashandchequeexpress.co.uk.

Simple: Ready cash solutions and a variety of electrical items on sale too.

WEST SUFFOLK COLLEGE 2012 FULL-TIME STUDENT DESTINATIONS

PROGRESSION AND SUCCESS OF WEST SUFFOLK COLLEGE STUDENTS

West Suffolk College is working harder than ever to give all their students the teaching and support they need to enable them to progress in the world of work or to undertake further study.

The College provides a range of learning opportunities, tailored to the individual needs and different learning styles of a diverse student body, made up of people of all ages and from different backgrounds.

More than 90% of students who had successfully completed a Level 3 qualification at the end of the academic year 2011-12, have either gone on to further study or into employment.

Not everyone knows that many Further Education students progress to university after a College course. This year, 78.5% of our Level 3 students who applied for university were accepted onto one of their chosen courses. They gained places at universities all over the country, from Durham University in the north to University College Falmouth in the south, and all points in between.

West Suffolk College has always had a strong tradition of Higher Education provision, further strengthened by its status as a centre of University Campus Suffolk (Bury St Edmunds campus). Many students progress to degree level courses at UCS Bury St Edmunds, secure in the quality of teaching and mentoring provided by staff on the West Suffolk College campus.

Our students have gone on to study in a variety of disciplines, ranging from Aerospace Engineering with Space Technology to Midwifery, Law and Politics or Marine Biology.

With the further development of Apprenticeships and Higher Apprenticeships and a wide range of programmes on offer, the College is well placed to provide young people with a springboard to further training or employment.

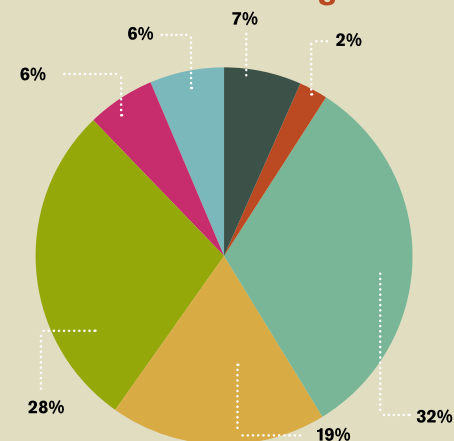

West Suffolk College is also developing a more coherent approach to vocational education in STEM subjects (Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths). The College is keen to place Level 3 students in local science-based industries, engaging with industry sectors including manufacturing, process engineering, ports, and the energy sector (including nuclear).

The College boasts impressive specialist facilities in many subject areas, and further improvements are in hand. Work is under way on an exciting new Further Education building on the main Bury St Edmunds campus.

This development is part of the continued renewal of the College campus over recent years. Plans for 2013 include the refurbishment of Gibraltar House to accommodate the School of Computing and some internal remodelling of the third floor of Suffolk House to provide a large HE common room and study area as well as HE classrooms.

Nothing ever stands still at West Suffolk College; the foundations of next year's successes are already being laid down.

Skills opportunity for young drivers

NEWLY-qualified young drivers are being offered an opportunity to build their confidence on the road, improve skills and save money.

Suffolk County Council is subsidising its Get in Gear course to give 250 people aged 17 to 19 the chance to benefit from a course worth £150, for the price of just £30.

The course helps drivers who have passed their test within the last 12 months to identify risks, discuss coping strategies and explore ways to manage them.

Statistics from the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents (ROSPA) show one in five drivers are involved in a crash within their first year of driving, while an 18-year-old driver is more than three times as likely to be involved in a crash as a 48-year-old driver.

Practical sessions within the six-hour course focus on rural and multi-lane roads, and classroom sessions will take place in Bury St Edmunds.

Cllr Guy McGregor, cabinet member for roads and transport, said: "This course really is invaluable and I would urge people to sign up as soon as possible to take advantage of this fantastic offer.

"As well as giving new drivers the confidence to cope with driving independently, Get in Gear has been specifically developed to improve young driver safety."

To book on a course, visit the website at www.suffolkroadsafe.net/gettingear

Lauren's hopes of digital award

BY ANDREW DICKENS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A CUSTOMER adviser who runs free computer courses for Haverhill residents has been shortlisted for a regional award.

Lauren Porter is one of three regional finalists in the Talk Talk Digital Heroes awards, which celebrate people who use digital technology to benefit their communities.

Lauren is responsible for the regular training courses run by Suffolk housing provider Havebury on topics including online safety, word processing and social media.

The winners will be decided by the public who have until November 18 to cast their votes.

Each of the 12 regional winners will receive £5,000 to spend on enhancing their digital projects, while there is an extra £5,000 up for grabs for the overall digital devices such as smart phones and tablets.

"I really enjoy watching our tenants gain in confidence and hearing their stories about how their new skills have improved their lives."

Lauren often runs one-to-one sessions with clients, who are often older tenants who may not have undertaken training for a number of years.

Havebury chief executive Karen Mayhew said: "We are thrilled that Lauren has been shortlisted for this award. She works extremely hard to run these courses which are very well received by our tenants, and we hope that lots of people will take a few minutes to vote for her."

Now in their fifth year, the Digital Heroes Awards are run in conjunction with Citizens Online.

Members of the public can vote for Lauren at www.talktalk.co.uk/digitalheroes. The winners will be announced at a ceremony at the House of Commons on November 28.

national champion. All winners will receive 12 months' free broadband from Talk Talk.

Lauren said: "It would be great if people voted for this project.

"Not only would it recognise the achievements our tenants have made, but the prize money would allow us to expand our digital training. This could include outreach sessions and allow us to cover other

Kane is in the pink for laughter

Comedian and presenter Russell Kane tells Lizzy Denning about feeling broody, waking up with hot women and why his career wouldn't have got started if his dad had still been alive

IT would be fair to say that Russell Kane has been more than a touch influenced by another comedian with a similar name, who shares his love of women, autobiographical comedy and hair products.

They've even both been through recent divorces.

There's definitely an air of Brand to the way Kane speaks, which slips between a happy-go-lucky Essex manner (calling me both 'darlin' and 'babes', without much conviction) and rather self-conscious whimsy, putting on a posh voice to tell me 'the flower is half-opened', in terms of his maturity.

Interviewing him is a somewhat bewildering experience as his personality switches, but this malleable identity is something on which he's pinned his shows for many years, since coming to the scene's attention eight years ago.

His latest work, Posturing Delivery, is centred on his friends and relatives starting to have children, and what that means to him as a single man. Is he feeling broody?

"I never trust my own emotions: sometimes I'll see some guy cradling his baby on a Sunday and think [mock crying] 'Oh my God, that's what I'm supposed to be doing', but the next day

I wake up at midday having been with a hottie until 11am, and think, 'Would I really want to give this up?'"

Kane first rose to public attention when he won the Laughing Horse New Act of the Year award in 2004, and has since then moved between presenting jobs (including Big Brother's Big Mouth and I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here!) and annual stand-up trips back to the Edinburgh Fringe.

I ask whether his carefully crafted appearance indicates a vain nature, but he answers sharply: "No." Before justifying, after a pause: "Vain for me is confident men who spend too long in the bathroom looking at themselves."

"I'm surprised I'm not in counselling for insecurity about my appearance: there's no way I could be vain. I've definitely got too much grooming stuff in the bathroom, but that's all based on: 'I look s**t, am I fat? What if my acne comes back again?' I don't think vain people tend to have those thoughts."

Kane married his childhood sweetheart, and fellow comedian, Sadie Haslet, in 2010. The pair separated soon after, although remain on good terms, and the Essex-based comic now lives alone with his beloved black pug Colin, and cats Keith and Wayne.

Kane had a turbulent relationship with his late father, who found it difficult to accept both his son's slightly camp mannerisms, and his passion for getting up on stage.

He confides: "I didn't feel disloyal, I did think – it's a terrible thing to think – that he wouldn't be very happy about it if he were alive. My mum said that as well. 'This wouldn't have happened if your dad was alive.' So we both had this dark and bizarre thought and moved on."

There's a moment of contemplation, as he notes: "With dead people you lose the ability to remember them – it's quite quick how that happens."

Then he's back to justifying himself again: "It was a bit emotional to perform, there was a speech at the end that was quite sad to perform, but some of the best things you go to see at the theatre are quite emotional, so there's nothing wrong with that."

There are no topics, he claims, he would refuse to publicly joke about: "I'm very revelatory about my sex life, and it's all truthful, and I'll tell anyone any of that – I'll tell my taxi driver on the way to a gig, let alone anyone else."

"I'm an autobiographical comedian, so I don't have a choice, really."

news from

BEVERLEY CRAVEN will be performing all her hits from the 90s – including Promise Me, Holding On, Woman to Woman and Memories & Love Scenes – tomorrow at 8pm. She is back on the road with an acoustic line-up as she sings candidly about her experience of surviving breast cancer, her recent divorce and current affairs (not the political kind...). This is a show unapologetically designed to make you laugh, cry and then buy her autobiography Truth Be Told.

■ Jukebox & Bobbysox is a non-stop colourful show that will take you back in time with two hours of jukebox hits. With a live band, fabulous costumes and fantastic dancing from the Bobbysox dancers this is a rock and roll music show that will blow your bobby socks off from 7.30pm on Saturday.

■ The Haverhill Silver Band will be back at the Arts Centre for the start of the indoor concert season on Sunday at 7.30pm.

■ The 5th Haverhill Performing Arts Festival will take place over two weekends; the Children's Speech & Drama Festival takes place from November 16 to 18, and the Children's Music Festival on November 23 and 24.

■ On the cinema front there is a second showing of Private Peaceful (12A) tonight at 7.45pm and an additional 1.30pm showing of Anna Karenina (15) on Tuesday.

■ Dates for the diary include The Albion Band on Wednesday, November 21, at 7.30pm; Monkey Nuts Comedy Club on Sunday, November 25, at 8pm; and Christmas Time with shopping and wine on Thursday, November 29, from 6pm to 9.30pm.

Yes, they're joking

Cambridge is going to be awash with top comedians this month. Just take a look at this lot and try to keep a straight face!

Mark Watson

What's the act? A high-octane show full of anecdotes and stories drawing upon the eccentricities of everyday life.

What the critics say: "While the show needs more sense of purpose, so many of the elements within it are hilarious, delivered with the epitome of geeky passion." (Chortle)

Other work: Mark also makes regular appearance on BBC5 Live's Fighting Talk.

Tell us a joke: "Someone asked me recently – what would I rather give up, food or sex. Neither! I'm not falling for that one again, wife."

■ Mark Watson, Corn Exchange, tomorrow.

Andrew Lawrence

What's the act? Andrew uses his vocal talents to produce a range of voices and doesn't shy away from awkward humour or self-deprecation – his ginger locks are first on his hit list.

What the critics say: "Andrew Lawrence spews hypnotically articulate misanthropy that is very funny indeed, if absolutely not for the easily shockable." (The Telegraph)

Off stage: Lawrence's gigs often involve songs played on his guitar.

Tell us a joke: "Contact lenses are a little bit like parents: the older they get, the more they irritate you, then you lose one of them and the one that's left behind gives you a constant headache."

■ Andrew Lawrence, The Junction, tomorrow.

Rob Rouse

What's the act? A full of beans, hyperactive spree of humour and silliness, his previous tour largely revolved around anecdotes about his dog.

What the critics say: "He is a great storyteller, of the kind who is able to blur the boundaries between fact and fiction to get at the truths of life and death which lie behind their tale." (The Scotsman)

Other work: Appeared in ITV1's Tunnel of Love with Jack Dee.

Tell us a joke: Rob often brings on stage his south London duck Shaniqua and retells the local youths' baffled reaction to seeing Rob take her for walks around Crystal Palace.

■ Rob Rouse, The Junction, Thursday, November 22.

Stewart Francis

What's the act? Similar to Tim Vine, his style includes plenty of deadpan one-liners and puns, releasing gag after hit-and-miss gag on to his audience – but the easily offended should beware.

What the critics say: "When he's on form, Francis is closer to the genius of Groucho Marx or Woody Allen." (Culture Northern Ireland)

Off stage: Stewart was a contestant on an episode of Celebrity Mastermind in aid of Children In Need, his specialist subject being the ice hockey team the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Tell us a joke: "You know who really gives kids a bad name? Posh and Becks."

■ Stewart Francis, Corn Exchange, Friday, November 23.

Mark Thomas

What's the act? Thomas intertwines his campaigning against corruption and corporations with his brand of comedy and tries to challenge his audience as well as entertain them.

What the critics say: "The laughs come from a pretty grim place but, in Thomas's company, two hours there is two hours bracingly spent." (The Guardian)

Off stage: In 2008, Bradford University gave Mark an honorary doctorate for his work for peace. Mark also held the world record for the most political demonstrations in a day.

Tell us a joke: "If there are any Americans... I'm obviously going to criticise American foreign policy, it's not aimed at you. If you take offence, I'm sorry, just regard it as friendly fire."

■ Mark Thomas, The Junction, Sunday, November 25.

Al Murray

What's the act? The Pub Landlord is a loutish, right-wing, British-loving publican with some very strong views about the wider world, particularly our French and German cousins.

What the critics say: "Al Murray is a comedy genius and is now one of the most recognisable and successful comics in the UK." (York Press)

Off stage: Murray is no stranger to reality TV, having been a contestant on both Hell's Kitchen and the celebrity version of the ill-fated Fame Academy on BBC1.

Tell us a joke: "If we had no rules where would we be? France! If we had too many rules where would we be? Germany!"

■ Al Murray, Corn Exchange, Friday, November 30.

Frisky and Mannish

What's the act? The two have an incredible knowledge of the history of pop music and perform a cabaret style show of covers and parodies. They've been referred to as "mad scientists of pop".

What the critics say: "A riotous night out." (The Guardian)

Off stage: During 2011's series of The X Factor, Corcoran and Jones filmed video blogs after every live episode of the show that were so popular they were hosted on Heat's website.

■ Frisky and Mannish, The Junction, Friday, November 30.

LAST ORDERS:
Al Murray
appears on November 30.

The big film

ARGO certificate 15, 2hr

FICTION couldn't be any stranger than the truth in this gripping thriller about real-life events following the 1979 storming of the US embassy in Tehran.

Ben Affleck is a deserved front-runner for an Oscar as best director at next year's Academy Awards for his work on a film that keeps the audience on edge for its entire two hours.

Affleck has been a solid presence on screen for more than 30 years, but more recently it is behind the camera that he has truly excelled.

Here he works from a lean script by Chris Terrio, based on an article written by Joshua Bearman.

On November 4, 1979, simmering tensions outside the US embassy finally boil over and Iranian militants break through the barricades and storm the building.

Once inside they capture 52 Americans and hold them hostage, but six members of staff – Bob Anders (Tate Donovan), Joe Stafford (Scoot McNairy), Kathy Stafford (Kerry Bishe), Mark Lijek (Christopher Denham), Cora Lijek (Clea DuVal) and Lee Schatz (Rory Cochrane) – manage to escape to the nearby residence of the Canadian ambassador (Victor Garber). There they hide in a basement crawl space while awaiting news from the outside world.

Back on American soil, CIA extractor Tony Mendez (Affleck) concocts an elaborate scheme to rescue the escapees: he will pose as a film producer who has travelled to Iran to scout for locations for a sci-fi epic called Argo. The six stranded embassy staff will adopt the guise of his crew and they will leave the country together under false passports.

Bona fide Hollywood producer Lester Siegel (Alan Arkin) and make-up artist John Chambers (John Goodman) throw their weight behind Argo to give the plan credibility. But when Tony arrives on Iranian soil, he soon realises all of his smooth talking and experience might not be enough to save the embassy staff from an Iranian firing squad.

Argo holds attention in a vice-like grip and refuses to let go. Taut pacing, slick editing and escalating tension are underpinned by emotionally wrought performances from a sensational ensemble cast.

Arkin and Goodman provide the comic relief as the Hollywood veterans who realise they must spend serious money to create the illusion of a blockbuster in the making.

The nail-biting climax succumbs to dramatic licence, but by that point we forgive Affleck everything.

Shredders on trial

SHREDDERS have been around for a long time, breaking down prunings from trees and shrubs to enable you to reduce your tougher garden debris into a useful mulch quickly and effectively.

But the price and quality of shredders varies enormously and now Which?

Gardening, the Consumers' Association magazine, has done some research to find out which shredders perform best and to let gardeners know what features to look out for when buying a shredder.

"A decent machine will cope with both woody branches and green twigs without jamming, shred a large amount quickly and relatively quietly, and produce fine shreds ready to use as a mulch or to add to your compost. A bad shredder will be noisy, jam up easily and be tricky to unblock," the magazine reports.

Testers fed easy garden material such as straight, fresh branches through the 10 shredders on trial, weighed the resulting shreds and rated how finely they had been chopped. They then shredded different materials including conifer prunings, spiny and woody branches and soft, fibrous plants and assessed how often shredders became blocked, as well as assessing the machines for ease of use, noise and ease of moving and storage.

Those voted the Best Buy shredders included the Bosch AXT 22 D (£280), a quiet roller shredder which proved to be the best for all types of material, the Bosch AXT 23 TC (£400), a roller shredder which was best for more woody material, and the Al-Ko 2500R Power Slider (£229), an impact type which proved best for fine shredding.

by Hannah Stephenson

There are two main types of shredders available – the impact shredder and the roller/turbine shredder.

Impact, or rapid, shredders chop up branches very finely with a spinning blade and are lighter and easier to move than roller shredders, but are also noisier.

The blades will go blunt over time, so make sure replacements are available when you buy an impact shredder. Most don't come with a collector so you'll have to improvise with a plastic sheet or tub.

Roller shredders are quieter machines which draw in garden debris, chopping it up and crushing it against a metal plate with a drum of blades. They are generally quieter and more compact, but they shred more coarsely.

When buying a roller shredder, make sure you can safely and easily access the blades to clear any blockages, as they tend to block more easily than impact machines. Also check that the shredder outlet isn't obstructed as some have a plastic grid over the outlet for safety, but this may lead to debris getting caught and blocking the machine.

To get the best out of your shredder, shred material shortly after pruning as the wood will be softer and easier to break down, and put the thicker end of branches through the machine first.

Prevent blades from clogging by alternating between sappy green waste and drier woody material, and always clean out the shredder after breaking down green waste or the blades will clog.

Try to keep the shreds from different types of materials separate – woody shreds are ideal as mulches, while green matter is better for the compost heap.

What to do this week

- Protect members of the cabbage family with netting to deter hungry birds.
- Cover alpines which don't like wet weather.
- Don't walk on the lawn after persistent rain.

- Continue winter digging and manuring.
- Plant new tubers of Jerusalem artichokes.
- Put potted strawberry plants on their sides to prevent waterlogging.

- Plant new rhubarb crowns.
- Continue to be vigilant against slugs and snails by doing a daily patrol to remove any, particularly after rain.
- Make sure stakes and ties on trees are secure.

Seat ups supermini bar with Ibiza Cupra

SEAT officially raises the bar in the supermini class this week with the introduction of the sensational Ibiza Cupra.

The Ibiza Cupra is the very essence of the Seat brand: stunning design, amazing performance and state-of-the-art technology. Those qualities come together in a package that's simultaneously compact and versatile, making the Ibiza Cupra an extremely compelling day-to-day performance car.

Performance is scintillating, with a 0-62mph time of just 6.9 seconds and a top speed of 142mph, yet it is exceptionally efficient, with average fuel consumption of 47.9mpg.

Due on sale in January priced at £18,825, with order books opening next week, the new Ibiza Cupra follows more than 16 years of heritage. The Cupra name was born in 1996 as a special, top-of-the-line Ibiza built to commemorate name adorning both the Ibiza and Leon ranges.

"The Ibiza Cupra is one of the icons of the Seat brand," said James Muir, president of Seat SA. "Its stunning design and refined dynamics promise driving fun mile-for-mile. With its innovative technologies, upgraded interior and further improved quality, the new Ibiza Cupra clearly shows how quickly and consistently our brand is continuing to develop."

Powered by a 1.4-litre TSI petrol engine that develops 177bhp and 250Nm, owing to a turbo-charger and a super-charger as well as direct injection, the latest Ibiza Cupra is truly worthy of the name, and begins the next chapter of the Cupra success story.

Details at www.seat.co.uk.

New chapter: For the Seat Ibiza Cupra.

Seat's World Rally Championship victory in the 2.0-litre category. Since then a Cupra has always featured in the Seat model line-up, with the

The most PHAB-ulous donation for ages

THE cheque was for £1,500 but the gesture was priceless, writes Mike Scialom.

The organisers of the Two Counties Motor Show, which took place at Rowley Mile at the end of June, had always said that there would be a donation from the proceeds to PHAB – Physically Disabled and Able Bodied – and that's exactly what happened when Eddie Hatfield, president of Cambridge Lions, went to the Hester Adrian Centre off Chesterton Road and handed over a cheque for £1,500 last Friday.

"We're delighted," said PHAB leader Joyce Mitchell. "It's a great help and will enable us to maintain our mini-bus and take our 40 or so members out for a Christmas dinner. We're very thrilled."

Errol Bilton, the Two Counties Show sales co-ordinator, said of the charity donation: "Newmarket Lions and Cambridge Lions are the main beneficiaries of the funding from Two Counties, but Cambridge's chosen charity was PHAB this year, and we'll also be looking to help other charities' requests as and when they are made. It's all good stuff for us and the recipients."

The Lions Club is an international organisation promoting and fostering "a spirit of understanding for humanitarian needs by providing voluntary services through community involvement and international cooperation".

"Plans are well advanced for next year's show," added Errol. "It's at Rowley Mile again, this time on June 30."

Contact the Cambridge Lions' treasurer at dercyck.chambers@ntlworld.com for volunteering or further information.

Top Gear Live draws record crowds and a World Record first

THE curtain has come down on the "biggest and boldest" Top Gear Live ever seen in the UK, which ended on Sunday.

The action-packed four-day automotive extravaganza staged at the NEC, Birmingham attracted unprecedented crowd numbers, unrivalled support from the motor industry and also established a dramatic new world record for the first double loop-the-loop by a motorcycle.

In total nearly 56,000 Top Gear fans savoured the nine live Arena Shows hosted by the turbo-charged triumvirate of Jeremy Clarkson, Richard Hammond and James May, easily surpassing the previous single venue record of 49,000 which was set at Earls Court in 2009.

Taking their lead from the BBC television programme, the Arena Shows featured a hugely entertaining mix of jaw-dropping stunts, mouth-watering supercars and hilarious challenges. Highlights included a timely tribute to 50 years of James Bond, a crazy game of car conkers plus Clarkson and The Stig taking on the armed forces in an in-door autotest shoot-out. The Arena Show culminated with a member of the intrepid Top Gear Live Stunt Team completing the breathtaking Deadly 720+, the first back-to-back loops ever completed on two wheels.

Fans were also treated to live track performances overseen by former Top Gear presenters Vicky Butler-Henderson and Tiff Needell. This section included a rare UK appearance from YouTube driving sensation Ken Block on Thursday plus a live version of the TV show's 'Star in a Reasonably Priced Car'.

Fun or what?

Turbo-charged? Richard Hammond, James May and Jeremy Clarkson rather worryingly looking like they're road-testing bath tubs at Top Gear Live.

Shortages push used prices up

CONTINUING shortages in the wholesale used car markets have resulted in record average used car values, according to BCA's latest quarterly Pulse report.

With used cars averaging £6,216 across the period, Q3 12 recorded the highest value since Pulse began reporting in 2005. This represented a significant £325 (5.5 per cent) improvement over Q2 and was £293 (4.9 per cent) ahead year-on-year.

Fleet and lease values increased to £8,177, the highest on record and ahead year-on-year by £917 (12.6 per cent). Part-exchange values averaged £3,002 – also the highest quarterly value recorded since Pulse began publishing in 2005 and up by £159 (5.5 per cent) compared to Q2 12 and ahead by £304 (11.2 per cent), year-on-year. July, August and September recorded the three highest monthly part-exchange values on record.

BCA's communications director Tony Gannon commented: "With on-going economic pressure, rising costs and a relatively weak retail environment, it might seem counter-intuitive to report that used car values continue to climb year-on-year. However, supplies reaching the wholesale used car market are quite significantly down on the peak seen four to five years ago and there is a real shortage of good quality, ready to retail used cars. This is leading to fierce competition and generally rising values for the best examples reaching the remarketing arena.

He added: "This stock shortage is a long-term issue and is unlikely to change until new car volumes pick up significantly and the economy improves enough to generate a bigger churn of vehicles in the marketplace. This doesn't diminish the effect of the typical seasonal pressures, of course, which have seen values and conversions weaken in early October.

"Quarter 3 saw a 'richer' mix of used cars compared to Q2, with fleet/lease volumes representing a slightly increased proportion compared to part-exchange volumes," Gannon concluded.

Based against the average values achieved in Q1 2005, the BCA Index tracks the quarterly market performance to give a clear view of where prices have been as well as indicating where they might go. Unsurprisingly, given three months of consistently high values in Q3 the BCA Index reached 130, the highest point on record and up six points year on year and seven points on the previous quarter.

Cambridge Saab makes free winter check and top up offer

WITH winter lurking just around the corner, Saab Parts UK is launching a seasonal Winter Check and Top Up offer for all Saab owners.

Available through Saab's national network of authorised service centres until March 31 – including Cambridge Saab – the Winter Check involves a full inspection and top up of all essential fluids and tyre pressures, reducing the chance of incident and breakdown during the coming months, all for a fixed price of £19.99.

Recognising vehicles perform differently in cold weather, and taking action early is good preventative care, Saab Parts UK is offering all Saab Service Club members booking a Winter Check and a winter aftercare kit completely free of charge.

The winter kit comprises of a car shampoo, screen wash, de-icer and a window scraper and can be claimed by simply registering your Saab on the Saab Service Club website (www.saabserviceclub.co.uk) and downloading the corresponding winter aftercare kit voucher.

Or call the region's Harston-based Saab dealership, Cambridge Saab on (01223) 873660, or at www.cambridgesaab.co.uk for full details.

Cambridge Saab: Region's only Saab dealership continues to offer a first class service for fans of the Swedish marque.

Order your Renault ZOE now

RENAULT'S new supermini ZOE is available to reserve now ahead of its UK showroom launch in next spring to mark a new era of electric vehicles for all.

The flagship vehicle of the French brand's four-strong 100 per cent electric vehicle range is stylish, affordable and incredibly versatile – perfect for commuting, super-market and school runs, and for households who want to downsize their engine and carbon footprint. With an NEDC homologated range of up to 130 miles and a price tag from £13,650, Renault claims ZOE is "the first affordable car for everyday use to have been designed from the ground up as an electric vehicle".

ZOE packs the industry's most advanced technology, including no fewer than six 'world premiere' features and 60 patents.

More details at www.renault-ze.com.

Available to order: The Renault ZOE will be the French marque's electric flagship.

Regular servicing not only ensures better performance, but an efficient engine should also mean lower fuel consumption, cleaner exhaust emissions and of course, greater reliability.

A good place to start is with a winter health check. Some of these tasks you may be able to do yourself but many garages and service centres offer these vehicle health checks at this time of year. Just a few simple checks go a long way to preventing many breakdowns. In addition, a specific pre-winter service check should ensure that vehicles are in good mechanical and electrical condition to face whatever the season might bring. Basic checks ideally should include everything from lights and tyres to battery and starter motor.

Tyres should always be carefully checked as worn treads are illegal as well as potentially lethal - for you and innocent bystanders, as well as other road users. Tyre pressures, too, should be regularly monitored. If you decide against the fitting of winter tyres it's important to ensure that you choose an appropriate tyre to see you safely on your way all year round. Regular "all season" tyres rapidly become less flexible so they lose their ability to grip the road. This dramatically increases your stopping distance, which can be very dangerous.

Battery failure is one of the most common causes of a breakdown in the winter months - drained from leaving the lights on, as we all do from time to time - or simply passed its useful life. Sluggish starting is a sure sign that your car battery is getting old. As soon as starting becomes slow, it's time to think about buying a new battery. It's possible that the problem might lie with the starter motor, so ask your garage to check that out, along with the fan belt.

Take advantage of the winter checks that most small garages, main dealers and service centres are offering over the coming months. You don't want to be stranded during your journey, so having your car checked over beforehand could be one of the best decisions you make all year.

Regular "all season" tyres rapidly become less flexible so they lose their ability to grip the road. This dramatically increases your stopping distance, which can be very dangerous*

HR869 – SENIOR ELECTRICAL TECHNICIAN & ELECTRICAL TECHNICIAN

We are currently seeking a Senior Electrical Technician and an Electrical Technician to maintain and develop our on-car wiring systems and garage based Electrical equipment. These roles will be responsible for the production of high quality Electrical and Electronic components, looms and assemblies using Autosport or Aerospace connectors, MIL spec wiring, and heat shrink moulded parts.

Successful applicants for both roles will be competent in the assembly of Raychem system 25 wiring harnesses and other associated Electrical assemblies and be able to demonstrate a high level of commitment, coupled with excellent interpersonal skills. The ability to work as part of a team, in a pressurised environment, whilst ensuring that exceptional standards are maintained at all times are essential skills for these roles. Ideal candidates will also have experience in a Motorsport or Aerospace build environment.

In addition to the above the Senior Technician role will work closely with the Electronics Production Team Leader assisting with day-to-day task planning, while providing leadership, mentoring and technical support to the Electrical Technicians. It is essential for the successful applicant for the Senior Technician role to have strong leadership and organisational skills and a BTEC NC in Electrical or Electronic Engineering (or equivalent).

ELEC2907 – ELECTRONICS TEST & INSPECTION TECHNICIAN

You will be responsible for all aspects of testing, inspection, process development and documentation for a wide range of Electronic assemblies. Working closely with the Electronics Design and Production Groups, you will ensure the appropriate standards are met before parts are released for track use. # Watson hits a double top . . .

RICHARD Watson narrowly missed out on a treble at the Haverhill Charity Darts League finals night.

Watson, who helped The Bull A become Division One winners, picked up the pairs trophy with Brian Cook, but narrowly missed out on the singles title, losing 2-1 to Gary Flynn.

The Division Two title went down to the very last games and was won by only one point by

The Haverhill Rovers (Pirates) team, who piped The White Hart, who themselves were ahead of Rose & Crown B by virtue of games won.

The new trophies for Division Two winners and runners-up have both been named in honour of the much-missed Dave Rogers.

More than 60 180s were scored during the competition, while the highest finish was 167 by Paul Smith.

The competition raised just under £2,000 for St Nicholas Hospice Trust.

Juniors' victory Merritts a mention!

HAVERHILL juniors won their annual match against the club's ladies 4½-1½.

Played over 10 holes as fourball betterball format, all the matches were close and the result could have gone either way.

Junior captain Liam Merritt thanked lady captain Doreen Darbey and the ladies' section for organising the event.

Daniel Bentley came out on top when the juniors contested the Autumn Shield.

Playing in medal format, Bentley had a magnificent round of 73-10-63, cutting his handicap by two shots to eight in the process.

Second on countback was Ollie Stevenson with 77-12-65, reducing his handicap by a shot to 11.

Lewis Whiting was third with the lowest gross score 70-5-65, reducing his handicap by a shot to four.

James Iron, playing stableford format, had an excellent score of 43pts, cutting his handicap by three shots to 27.

Haverhill ladies won their home match against Gog Magog 3-1.

Generation gain: Junior captain Liam Merritt and his squad show off the trophy for winning their annual match against Haverhill's ladies.

Jack's the lad as Wrattling tame Tigers

Burwell Tigers 4
West Wrattling 6
CAMBS MINI LEAGUE, UNDER-11B

JACK Lisher scored a hat-trick as Wrattling came from behind to win.

The hosts went 2-0 up early on, but an own goal reduced the deficit. Lisher's first made it all square, but Tigers went back in front.

Finley Plant made it 3-3 at the break and James Iron put Wrattling in front for the first time midway through the second half.

The hosts levelled with three minutes to go, but Lisher fired a double in injury time to give his side the points.

Teversham 4 West Wrattling 1
CAMBRIDGE & DISTRICT COLTS LEAGUE, UNDER-13A

BOTH teams played good football in atrocious weather, but it was the hosts who prevailed as Wrattling failed to convert their chances.

Teversham struck early with a long-range shot, and Wrattling then saw an Ethan Murphy shot cleared off the line and Daniel Cordwell shoot over from close range.

Wrattling's chances came and went and they were punished when an in-swinging corner was slotted home for Teversham's second.

Early in the second half Teversham sprung the offside trap and notched a third, but the visitors got some reward for their pressure when a Cordwell shot scraped over the line.

Wrattling sensed the game was still open and pushed forward, but Teversham scored on the break to make it safe.

Wrattling man of the match was Kieron Lindsay.

Haverhill 65 Witham 5
UNDER-15

HAVERHILL made light of torrential rain to leave their visitors feeling swamped.

From the start Dan Crawshaw took control and a jinking run led to the first score. Haverhill were buoyant and looked dangerous every time they went forward, as both backs and forwards were effective in possession.

New addition Mitchell Morgan looked comfortable in the role of centre and the link-up between forwards and backs from set-pieces was controlled well by Ben Bradnam.

By the end of the first half, James Carr, Lester Cuasay, Brad Call, Josh Woodgate and Crawshaw – who ended the match with five tries and three conversions – had all gone over for scores.

Crawshaw lights blue touchpaper to storming win

The move of the game came late in the second half when debutant Bradley Richardson gathered a difficult high swirling ball, broke the gain-line and popped to Call, whose powerful run was no match for the Witham defensive line and he crashed over for his second.

Dan French was impressively consistent in the ruck and Josh Moseley demonstrated his gain in confidence with several breaks, while Carr led the pack well.

It's time for me to go — Betts

Peter: Rovers need new manager to kick on

PETER Betts claims Haverhill Rovers are ready to make the step up to the Ryman League after he announced he was quitting as manager.

The boss (above) is stepping down after nearly four years in the job and says his decision is for the good of the club.

Betts – who will remain as interim manager, play a part in appointing his successor and remain at the club to support the new boss – did the role alongside his full-time job as facility operations manager and football development officer at Haverhill Community Sports Association.

A combination of a heavy workload and his belief the club can be taken to a higher level made him make the difficult decision to step aside.

“My job is a full-time job and then I do Haverhill Rovers as a hobby. I think people see it all as one thing, but it isn't and it's important there isn't a conflict, and the workload was getting heavy.

“I'm passionate about the club and I think I've made a massive difference,” he said.

“We were bottom of the Ridgeons Premier, with an old ground and two teams when I came in. Now there are exciting times ahead at the club, we've got a £2million ground and 28 teams.

“I want to see the club go to the next level and I think I've helped put the infrastructure in place for that to happen. They're very close.

“The club did everything in its power to get me to stay, but I think it's the right decision – the football club is bigger than me.”

The players were told of Betts' decision before Saturday's Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division game at Kirkley & Pakefield, which they won 2-0.

“I was delighted as the players had heard the news and they still worked their socks off, rather than feeling sorry for themselves,” said Betts, who also thanked the club's backroom staff for their support.

Betts added the club is in no rush to make an appointment as they search for the ideal candidate.

“It needs to be a manager who will buy into the club's philosophy and the ethos of wanting to push on,” he said. “This club is ready for the Ryman League.”

THURLOW NUNN LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

TWO early goals were enough for Haverhill to do the damage and collect three points from their trip.

Callum Harrison edged Rovers in front after just two minutes by chipping the keeper after Neil Cogger had played the ball into him at the end of a flowing move.

Late sickener for Hunt's boys

Haverhill 10 Norwich Union 12

GREENE KING IPA EASTERN COUNTIES LEAGUE, DIV TWO

AN early injury and late indiscipline cost Haverhill victory in a match they should have won.

The first move of the game saw playmaker Ricky Brown break his hand, with Michael Lansdowne moving into the back row and Monty Beaton dropping into the inside centre position.

Losing Brown's dynamism in getting to the breakdown first seemed to affect Haverhill, and they were eventually punished by the opposition.

However, they took the lead on 20 minutes when Gavin Hope released skipper Adam Hunt for a superb 45-metre run to score. In the strong, swirling wind, Kieran Ewens' conversion was looking good, but slipped past the left post.

Mike Woods was impressive at full-back and the boot of Ewens was able to make huge inroads into the Norwich half.

It was one of those kicks from a Norwich infringement on 35 minutes that allowed man of the match Dan Bishop to gather in the line-out, punching a hole in the Norwich defence and then releasing Beaton for a great individual try from 35 metres to make the score 10-0. Again, the wind did not help kicker Ewens with the conversion, which slipped wide.

Ewens had a chance to extend the lead early in the second half but, following a great chip and chase, the pass did not go to hand, and 10 minutes of Norwich pressure then ended with them crossing in the corner.

Haverhill continued to attack, but silly infringements caused the moves to break down and, with 20 minutes to go, the wind stopped blowing, which was to prove the undoing of the home side.

With three minutes left, Haverhill managed to break out of their 22 and into the Norwich half, which should have allowed them to see out the match. But they chose to play expansive ball, lost it and Norwich broke up the park.

Hope was shown a yellow card for an infringement five metres out with a minute to go, and the resulting penalty was passed to Norwich's giant prop, who scored in the corner.

With no wind to interfere with the flight of the ball, the conversion was successful and the final whistle went immediately.
